

Study Abroad for a Sustainable Future

Are you...

Concerned about the environment & social justice?
Wondering where are people working on solutions?
Ready to help create a more sustainable future?

Organic farming in Auroville, India

Nature Sanctuary at Findhorn, Scotland

Then bring your education to life!

Study in Ecovillages – ideal "campuses" for you to "walk your talk" and immerse yourself in sustainability in practice.

And earn academic credit as you...

- Identify rare medicinal plants in a rainforest in southern India
- Help regenerate the Caledonian forest in northern Scotland
- Learn about sustainable village development in rural Senegal
- Become a certified Permaculture Apprentice in tropical Brazil
- Design ecological homesteads in western Mass.
- Get skilled in consensus leadership in the mountains of Mexico
- Study biodiversity and improve your Spanish in high Amazon Peru

Visiting local villages in Senegal

Living Routes is an independent non-profit educational organization whose semester, Summer and January programs are accredited by UMass Amherst and open to students from throughout the U.S. and Canada. Credit is widely transferable.

www.LivingRoutes.org
79 S. Pleasant St. #A5. Amherst, MA 01002
(888) 515-7333 or (413) 259-0025

